

Prism Turns Your Light into a Rainbow of Abundance!

The Power of Independent Television

The average American watches more than five hours of TV a day and the average American household has two televisions! It is a well known fact that TV is the most powerful and influential medium that can penetrate any given market. It is the only medium available that can spread a message to the masses, in the shortest amount of time, with the least amount of effort, making it the most effective form of advertising available.

Prism has the same signal and coverage as a major television network with the intimacy of a local independent television station. A 30 second commercial on a major network can cost millions of dollars. Television has so much power and influence over the masses that it is usually reserved for the Fortune 500. Given that a rainbow of diversity populates our planet, where everything is interdependent and one thing is not more important than the other, at Prism we feel that television should be affordable for everyone, no matter one's ethnicity, class or culture. Even if you can only afford 30 seconds once a month at a prime time spot, with consistency, your message, product or business WILL grow! It's the power of the Prism! It turns the light of your message into a rainbow of abundance!
